

Dig Deep Evaluation

INFORMATION SHEET FOR PARTICIPANTS

The Arts Centre is about to begin an evaluation of the Dig Deep Music Mentoring program which you attend each Tuesday night at the Arts Centre. Dig Deep is one of the Arts Centre's programs for young people that gives young emerging artists from many different backgrounds and cultures the chance to be mentored by experienced hip-hop artists.

This is an information sheet to tell you more about the evaluation so you can make a choice. You don't have to take part if you don't want to and you can opt out at any time.

Dig Deep Evaluation The Arts Centre wants to know how the Dig Deep program is going. Do participants like you enjoy the program? Are they learning new skills from the program? Is the program helping your musical and performing skills? Are you now more likely to visit the Arts Centre? We will be asking everyone who attends a Dig Deep session over the next 6 months if they want to participate in the evaluation.

Dan West who runs the program will work with a professional evaluator named Clare Keating from a company called Effective Change who will carry out the evaluation.

What will it involve? Clare will ask you questions about your background, your interest in music, how the program is helping you and what you think about it. To do this she might ask you to do an interview, complete a survey, join in a group discussion and keep online blogs & video diaries. It will be a chance for you to tell us more about yourself and what you think about the project, whether it has helped improve your skills and confidence and what you think about the Arts Centre more generally. You can participate in one or all of the evaluation activities – it's up to you!

You don't have to tell Clare anything you don't feel comfortable about and you can decide not to participate at any time.

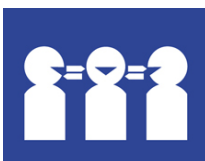

Can I still keep attending Dig Deep sessions if I don't want to be involved in the evaluation?

Yes of course – the evaluation is just about finding ways to improve the program for participants.

What will the Arts Centre do with the results? We will use the results of the evaluation to help us improve the program. Clare will write a report and we will share what we have learnt about the program with other people and organisations who are interested in the program. We will also use the results to report back to the organisations and donors who support our work.
